neighborhood for over 30 years. We love it and we think you'll love it too"
– Mary Genovese Colvin
& Margaux Pelegrin

Rittenhouse Square

Rittenhouse Square has represented the ultimate in urban living since the mid 1800's, when it served as the fashionable home base for Philadelphia's Victorian aristocracy. From impeccably maintained 19th century row houses to grand apartment buildings, from cutting-edge condos to Italianate mansions, Center City's most sought after addresses have always been found "on the square."

With its unsurpassed balance of residential and commercial uses, stunning natural beauty, and range of architecture, Rittenhouse Square exudes a prototypically European sense of style, history and civic pride. The Square itself—one of William Penn's five original open-space parks—serves as a gathering place for the entire city, its six beautifully maintained acres a blossom-laden backyard of lush lawns and linden trees, bronze sculptures and a central reflecting pool.

With over 200 shops, restaurants, galleries, spa-salons and high-end hotels—plus the Shops at Liberty Place—Rittenhouse Square is undoubtedly Philadelphia's most stylish commercial district. Trend-leading boutiques and flagship retail stores line the stretch of Walnut Street known as "Rittenhouse Row," attracting shoppers and tourists from around the world. And arts and culture thrive here too, from intimate concerts at the renowned Curtis Institute to myriad theater, opera and musical performances along the Avenue of the Arts—especially at the acclaimed Kimmel Center for the Performing Arts, home of the fabulous Philadelphia Orchestra.

1901 Delancey Place connects with the long-standing tradition of collection & reverence of great art in Philadelphia.

Stretching from LOVE Park to one of the largest museums in the U.S., the Philadelphia Museum of Art, Philadelphia's grand tree-lined Benjamin Franklin Parkway is flanked by some of the city's most acclaimed destinations. Visitors to the Parkway Museums District will discover a cultural mecca with world-class museums and educational institutions. The Rodin Museum, the magnificent Swann Memorial Fountain, Cathedral Basilica of Saints Peter and Paul on Logan Square and the world famous Barnes Foundation are just a few of the treasures and discoveries that abound on the Parkway.

1901 Delancey Place

Featured in the April 2013
WSJ article "The House
With a Surprise Inside" 1901 Delancey Place is a masterpiece of natural light and design.

This spectacular completely renovated and very rare 42 foot wide mansion in Rittenhouse Square exudes the ultimate in sophistication and luxury.

Extensive light, soaring 12-16 foot ceilings, lavish entertaining space, exquisite Italian glass doors and state-of-the-art systems make it an unrivaled modern-day trophy home.

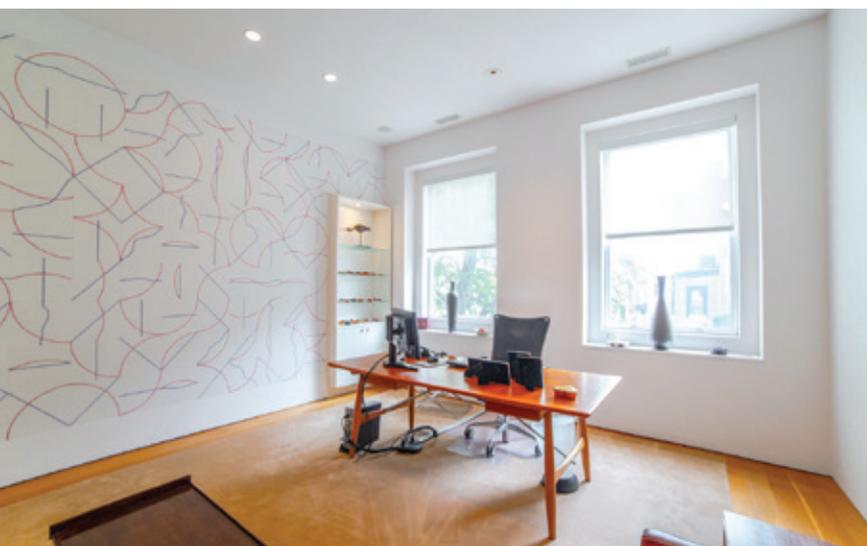

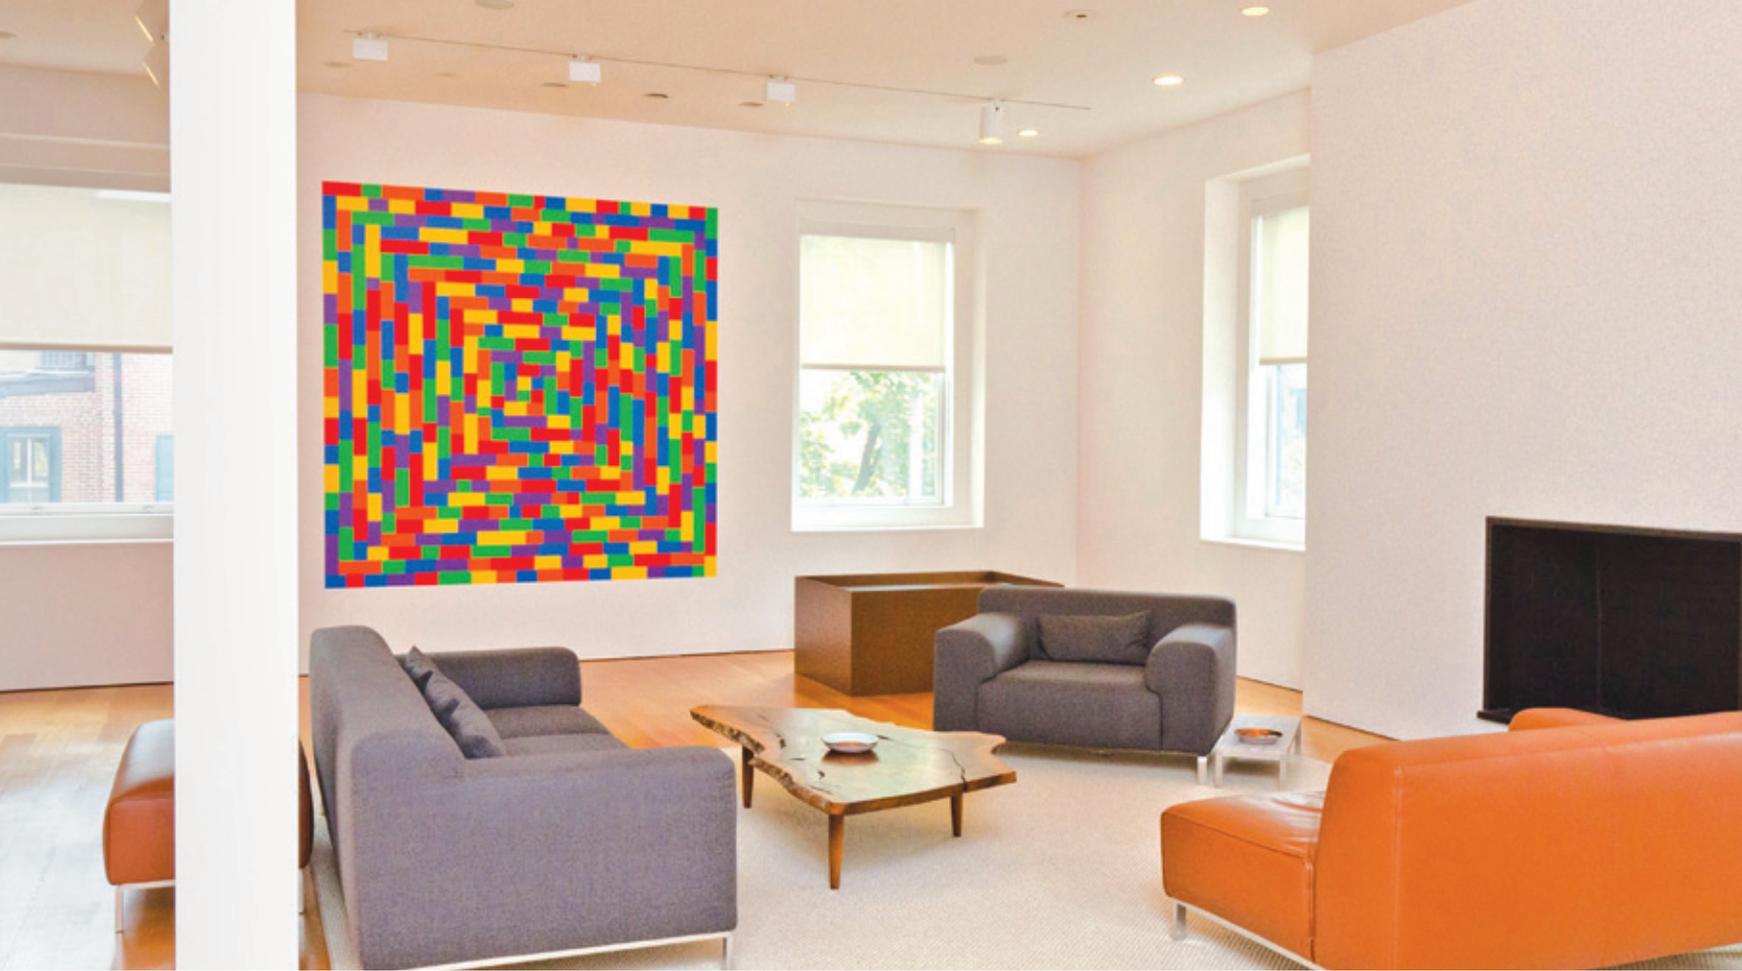

The expansive residence of 1901 Delancey Place epitomizes distinctive beauty and character.

5 magnificent stories, approximately 8800 square feet of living space and a 400+/- square foot roof deck.

This showplace home right off Rittenhouse Square is located in the heart of world-class museums, upscale shopping and critically-acclaimed restaurants. Truly a once-in-a-lifetime residential opportunity in Philadelphia!

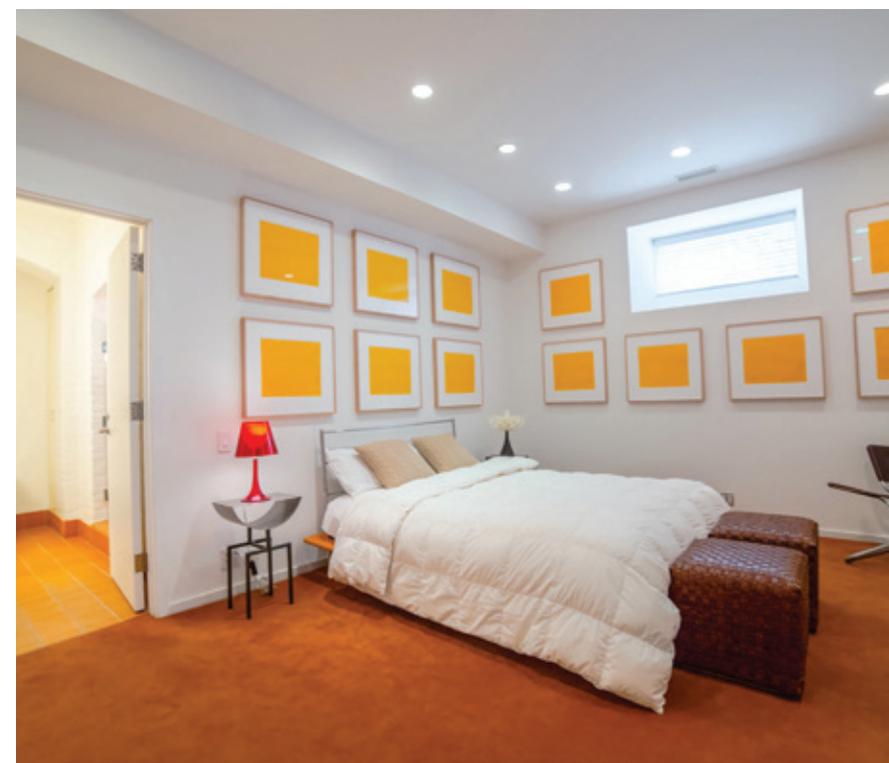

Circa 1870, this five floor masterpiece offering 5 bedrooms, 4 full baths and 3 powder rooms has been gutted and tastefully redone by the current owner, who has spared no expense on an exquisitely-detailed renovation.

The elegant ambiance is graced by huge windows, a generous flow of light from all four sides – an unrivaled feature in center city, a fireplace, an elevator, gorgeous oak flooring throughout, and high-tech control of everything from heating to sound and to security.

The lower level is a recreation lover's dream with a media room, catering kitchen and guest apartment with separate entrance.
